

Condé Nast Readers Rate Tampa International Best in the U.S.

Tampa, FL (March 6, 2003) - - Condé Nast Traveler Magazine has once again rated Tampa International Airport among the best in the world. Receiving the third highest point total overall in the 2003 Readers' Choice Awards behind Singapore's Changi and Amsterdam's Schipol Airports, Tampa International scored highest among all U.S. airports.

As reported in the March 2003 edition, "The winners...are those airports that do the best on several fronts, from making it easy to arrive and get around to hosting high-quality retail stores and restaurants." The readers of Condé Nast magazine annually rate each airport on five criteria: location/access, ease of connections, customs/baggage, food/shops/amenities and comfort/design.

"This year the award is so important to us because it represents Tampa International Airport's continued commitment to maintaining "world class" customer service in a new environment of security and regulations," says Louis E. \Miller, executive director, Hillsborough County Aviation Authority. "This award comes from the passengers - and they tell us we're getting it right."

Tampa International Airport has been honored by Condé Nast Traveler previously in 1993 and 1999. For more information visit www.cntraveler.com.
